Rockville, Md. – CNSI today announced the appointment of Arnold Morse to the position of general counsel. Mr. Morse, an industry veteran that most recently served as chief legal officer and corporate secretary for CACI International, will help guide corporate strategy as well as serving as chief legal adviser.

“It is with great pride that we are able to announce that Arnold Morse will be joining us as general counsel,” said Jaytee Kanwal, co-founder and Chief Operating Officer of CNSI. “His experience, ambition and personality are a perfect fit for our company. His career achievements are unparalleled, his dedication to helping CNSI reach new heights is inspiring and his integration into the team has been seamless.”

Mr. Morse comes to CNSI from CACI International Inc., where he served in a number of executive-level positions for more than 20 years, culminating in his role as chief legal officer and corporate secretary. During his tenure, Mr. Morse helped steward CACI’s revenue growth from $1 billion to $3.5 billion, while directing a 10-person legal department. Previously, he served as general counsel and corporate secretary of The Orkand Corporation from 2001 to 2004, prior to its sale to The Harris Corporation. Mr. Morse earned his undergraduate degree from Union College in New York and his JD at Boston College Law School.

“I have hit the ground running at CNSI,” added Mr. Morse. “They have created an incredibly unique culture and atmosphere that encourages integrity, excellence and innovation in performance to take on some of the most pressing health and technological issues facing the country. I believe my experience and expertise will be of great value here, and I'm excited to help the team learn, grow and thrive."
