ROCKVILLE, MD – CNSI, a fast growing, innovative provider of IT business solutions for government and commercial enterprises, today announced that it has been awarded the Commerce Information Technology Services Next Generation (COMMITS NexGen) small business vehicle, a Government-wide Agency Contract (GWAC), by the U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC). NexGen is a broad “solutions” based vehicle designed to foster partnerships, with industry and the Federal Government. The NexGen program has three significant goals: (1) deliver top quality IT services and solutions in a performance based environment to meet government organizations’ missions; (2) deliver IT services and solutions utilizing a streamlined acquisition methodology; and, (3) provide a talented pool of small, small disadvantaged, 8(a), women-owned, veteran-owned, service disabled veteran-owned, and HUBZone small business partners capable of delivering the government’s IT requirements. The objective of the NexGen program is to become the Federal Government’s vehicle of choice for meeting its demand for high-quality competitive Information Technology (IT) solutions from a pool of highly qualified small businesses. The contract provides for a base ordering period plus four one-year options for awarding task orders, and five one-year options for completing task order performance.
