

CNSI Sponsors MSU SpartaHack

Normally when we talk about ‘hackers’ it’s in relation to avoiding and protecting our business from them. But this week, CNSI went all in with hackers from Michigan State University (MSU) at the 2nd Annual SpartaHack. As one of this year’s corporate sponsors, CNSI joined 500 of MSU’s brightest and most ambitious students who came together to experience, design, dream and our favorite—innovate. CNSI is encouraging students to get creative with tech, connect with peers and professionals and #livebythecode. The hackathon, which kicks off tonight, gives students 36 hours to work their magic on cutting edge ideas they brainstormed themselves. In addition to sponsoring the event, CNSI will conduct a Tech Talk and spend time mentoring young hackers. Teams of one to four students will spend the weekend competing for a variety of awards, including the First Time Hacker Award. This event is also a great opportunity for CNSI to connect with future tech leaders who share CNSI’s commitment to innovation. Visit CNSI on Twitter to track the event!
